POLITICIANS RARELY TAKE CHANCES

A wage-hour bill supported by the President and classified as a "must" measure has been pigeonholed by a majority of the house rules committee. There is, naturally, a certain amount of lamentation.

Some of the lamentation is from the heart. Some of it is from the mouth only. The wage-hour bill was a useful talking point. Whether or not it would have been sound legislation was debatable. The truth is that many who supported it are just as well pleased that they didn't have to vote for it.

Under these circumstances, earlier in the new deal, many bills were passed under pressure which did not reflect the honest opinion of a majority of congressmen. It may be argued that in this case the rules committee majority did not reflect the judgment of a majority of the house of representatives by voting to pigeonhole the bill.

The rebuttal to such an argument would be a majority of the rules committee did what seemed, in their judgment as politicians, to be the safest thing to do. They refused to report a bill which had been endorsed by the administration and by certain potent minorities which have had great influence over members of congress. They asserted independence of the executive and of minorities attempting to dictate to them.

Politicians rarely take long chances.

A STUDY OF MONOPOLY

If the study of monopoly proposed in the latest White House message to congress should clear up some of the confusion clustered about that word it would be worth many times the half million dollars the President asks to make it possible.

When Americans say they hate monopoly, they mean they hate the kind of control of goods, services or the traffic in them which causes prices to be higher than they would be under free competition.

There are some types of monopoly which do not have this effect, but which produce better goods and services at cheaper prices than could be produced under free competition. Americans don't hate these types of monopoly. They favor them and believe that they benefit from them.

What they do hate is irresponsible monopoly—monopoly which responds neither to requirements of public interest, nor to the present inadequate machinery of public control. They hate it wherever and whenever it appears, and they will support their government in all honest attempts to uproot it. It is a form of cheating, unnatural to American principles.

The study of monopoly which the President has proposed can do a great deal of good if it is directed at monopoly which cannot be justified by the requirements of public welfare. It will be a great opportunity for the government to shed light on a situation which has been muddled by fuzzy thinking and irresponsible talking for generations. Action is desirable, but action without careful study beforehand would complicate, not simplify, the problem.

MR. HOPKINS' HANDS ARE TIED

Harry L. Hopkins' timely pledge that he, as head of WPA, will stand with WPA workers against politicians who have yielded to temptation. Furthermore, they know that Mr. Hopkins, sitting at a desk in Washington, can't expect to keep track of this kind of monkey business, no matter how hard he tries.

What is needed—what must be provided if the national government continues to distribute public money for the relief of unemployed Americans—is an amendment to the corrupt practices act making it a criminal offense for any politician to try to influence votes with money which belongs to all the people. Rep. Bruce Barton has proposed such an amendment.

CHINESE JOAN OF ARC LEADS VALIANT BAND

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 2.—A Chinese Joan of Arc may win the war for her country against Japan.

Diminutive Miss Lieou Ching-yang, and her band of guerrilla warriors are playing a predominant role in the Chinese struggle against invaders and may yet bring about a Chinese victory.

This is the opinion hazarded by George M. Hammond, blond American aviator who has watched the war in China from both sides.

"Twenty-five-year-old Lieou Ching-yang, a former Y. M. C. A. worker, has enrolled a band of 5,000 women and twenty times as many men as guerrilla fighters in the past eight months," Hammond told International News Service.

100,000 Guerrilla Fighters

"Under her direct command more than 100,000 warriors of both sexes are ready to swoop down suddenly upon the Japanese forces and annihilate small sections of them at a time. They are the terror of the Japanese army—and there is little to be done against them."

"Even Napoleon failed to take Spain because of guerrilla fighters and the Black and Tans certainly failed to subdue the Irish for the same reason," Hammond stated.

"Miss Lieou is the recognized leader of China's 100,000 warriors along and behind the northern fronts. One of the most courageous escapades of her life was when she broke into the jail at Peiping last November and released its 500 convicts after the Japanese had occupied the city. She got them out of the Western Gate of the city under the eyes of the Japanese sentries."

ment. No politician dares to oppose it publicly. There is no plausible reason for opposing it, except intent to do to some degree what Mr. Hopkins properly pledges himself to oppose in the case of WPA. But under existing circumstances, his hands are so securely bound that he can do little more than make his position plain and depend on the individual courage of WPA beneficiaries to do the rest. That is not enough.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York City.

DERMATITIS

WHAT can be more annoying than persistent itching of the ear canal? It may be so bad as to interfere with sleep.

The obstinate cases are due to inflammation of the skin lining the ear passage. This inflammation, or "dermatitis," as the doctors call it, may be due to one of various causes. Indeed, there are many causes.

Sometimes there is an irritation with itching of the skin covering the outer ear.

This form is commonly associated with eczema.

There is an old saying that "what is one man's food is another man's poison." For some mysterious reason, an occasional person has a peculiar sensitivity to certain substances, usually the proteins of our food. This is known to the modern scientists as "allergy." One who is so afflicted is said to be "allergic" to this or that substance.

But eczema is not the only cause for itching of the ear. It may be traced to the lack of hygiene and proper care. It is well to bear in mind that the ears should be thoroughly dried after bathing. If water is left in the ear canal, the skin becomes irritated, resulting in inflammation and itching.

Wax May Cause It

The disturbance may be caused by impaction of wax in the canal. The accumulation may go on for a long time and perhaps without any sign of discomfort except increasing "itchiness." But eventually it leads to irritation of the skin and severe itching.

Persons who are in poor health, perhaps suffering from some constitutional disorder, often complain of itching in the ears. The symptom may be the result of some disturbance in the circulation of the blood, or to the absorption of certain poisons which have developed within the system. As the general health improves the discomfort gradually disappears.

There is no doubt that proper hygiene of the ear is essential to the prevention of itching and the development of skin disturbances. Exposing the ear to air and sunshine will help to guard the skin of these parts against disease, just as they promote the general welfare of the body.

Records Show Heavy Rain

"It is probably safe to say that in no other consecutive 26 months in the entire record for this part of North America did as much rain fall as from November, 1897, to December, 1899. This appears from records in Ohio, Kentucky, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Louisiana."

Solar changes, which are mostly charted by sun-spots, govern the earth's weather cycles, Dr. Moseley said. Due to irregular fluctuation of the spots, it was not until recently that it became possible to estimate their recurrence and evolve the 90-year weather cycle theory, he added.

WHO PAYS THE BILL?

Editor, The News:

In glancing over "The National Archives Federal Register" April 23, 1938, Number 83, I see the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has issued an order regulating the handling of milk in the Cincinnati marketing area which comprises Hamilton county, and among other provisions is the following:

"Whereas the secretary finds that the expenses which the Market Administrator will necessarily incur during any twelve months period of time for the maintenance and functioning of such agency for the administration of this order will be approximately $35,000, etc."

I believe every citizen who has the welfare of this nation at heart should ask himself this question: If it costs $35,000 a year to regulate the sale of milk in Cincinnati, what will it cost to regulate the sale of milk in the United States? And then if we regulate meat, potatoes, wheat and flour and all the other things we eat and wear—I give up. Where are we going and who pays the bill?

The above referred to order was signed by Sec. Wallace April 27, 1938.

PHILL CHANCELLOR.

FOLSOM, Cal.—This city experienced a sudden house shortage when the enforcement of the 8-hour law for guards at the state penitentiary increased the number to 169. Thirty of the new guards had to find makeshift homes, until accommodations can be built.

"China has a very good chance of winning. Time is on her side. It is a war of attrition. Of course the war is fought on the ground and the Chinese infantryman is good; not only good but superlative."

"And Chiang-kai-shek is one of the finest military commanders in the world; better than any of the Japanese. If he can keep on fighting and keep his men in control he can afford to lose ten to one of the Japanese and still keep on fighting."

"I think China can outlast Japan," is Hammond's conclusion.

Italian Attacks
Hostility of U. S.

ROME, April 30.—The authoritative Fascist editor, Virginia Gayda, criticizing the United States for what he termed "hostile manifestation" toward Italy, today demanded whether the American people desire "war" with Italy.

In a three-column, front-page editorial in Il Giornale D'Italia, the widely quoted writer took particular exception to Representative Byron Scott's proposal that violators of the Kellogg pact be identified as "aggressors."

Also included as "hostile manifestations" cited by Gayda were an article by Ernest Hemingway, regarded as reflecting on the valor of Italian troops in Spain; speeches by Secretary Ickes and William E. Dodd, former American ambassador to Germany; and statements by Admiral William D. Leahy regarding Italian-German designs on South America.

OHIO ENTERING PERIOD OF RAIN

Bowling Green Professor Evolves Weather Cycle Theory

(By Associated Press)

BOWLING GREEN, May 2.—Dr. Edwin Lincoln Moseley professor emeritus of biology at Bowling Green State university, predicted today that the Ohio river drainage area was entering what will prove the "wettest" period in the 20th century.

Basing his forecast upon a study of solar cycles and research into tree growth, Dr. Moseley asserted that rainfall during the next 45 years would exceed that of any equal period since the floods of 1893 and 1894.

1948 To Be Extra Wet
He estimated that in 1948 more precipitation would be recorded than in any year since 1858, when the Great Lakes rose to the highest level on record.

A complete weather cycle, Dr. Moseley said, covered 90 years, 45 of which were unusually arid, and 45 unusually wet.

"We have entered a period when there should be more precipitation than in the last 45 years," he declared. "The corresponding cycle which started 90 years ago was particularly wet, especially in the Ohio valley."

"At Cincinnati, more than 50 inches fell every year from 1846-50. Portsmouth and Marietta had 47 inches, and at Dayton the 1846-49 average was 56.21 inches. Ordinarily not more than 40 inches fall annually at these points."

A study of tree rings, Dr. Moseley said, disclosed that growths at 50-year intervals corresponded closely. Widths of rings, he added, varied from year to year, but for certain years were similar in trees of different ages and species.

"My prediction of heavy precipitation for 1948 and a majority of the years from 1947 to 1957 is based on the fact that corresponding periods beginning 90 and 180 years ago were very dry," he said. "The maximum rainfall for the entire period at many places was in 1858."

And now he said other things about her; that she was tall and very slender and dressed in clothes which had obviously been chosen for a college campus. A bright plaid skirt, a green velvet jacket, a green beret knocked down childishly over her eyes.

She pulled off the beret and he saw that her hair was actually startling, a clear, shining bronze, more red than gold, brushed straight back from her forehead, and that some attempt at disciplining it had been made with a narrow, black satin ribbon.

He thought, "She certainly isn't pretty but there is an amazing vitality about her, and that's what counts in the theater. There's just a chance that she may have something after all."

He said abruptly, "Gina tells me that you have come to New York with some idea of getting work in

Alice looked pleased. "Return To Love" was one of his earlier and lesser successes, but oddly enough it had always been his favorite. He said, "Well, if you like that, you know good theater when you see it, any way."

MISS BOURKE-WHITE, like most modern women, likes dancing and the theatre. "And," she says, "I have Camels with me. Camels make a big difference in smoking."

Camels are a matchless blend of finer,
MORE EXPENSIVE
TOBACCOS —
Turkish and Domestic

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING
CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

"CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!"

Leading growers tell their preference in cigarettes
— it's Camel!

"I've been planting tobacco for twenty years," says Harry C. King. "Camel bought the choice lots of my last crop—paid more for my best tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camels—a mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Vertner Hatton, who has grown tobacco 25 years. "The Camel people pay more for our better tobaccos. Last crop they took my finest grades. I smoke Camels—I know no substitute for expensive tobaccos. Most planters favor Camels."

 "It's a fact Camel uses costlier tobaccos," says Floyd Smither, who knows tobacco from the ground up. "Last year I grew a handsome crop. Camel bought up my best leaf tobacco. I smoke Camels—so do most planters hereabouts. I know the quality tobacco in them."

TRAFFIC PLAN GETS NEW LIFE

District Highway Engineer Approves Local Project

tion of the road has not been determined but it may be cut over to Newgarden ave. through the allotment laid out some time ago on the old Toleton farm. From Newgarden ave. it would extend northwest to connect with the Benton road. It is understood the state would require an 80-foot right-of-way for this section.

This proposal is following the lead taken by many cities in diverting truck traffic away from heavy traffic lanes in congested sections. Recently East Liverpool obtained the state highway department's approval of a cut-off for that section of Route 7 which passes through that city. The county also is entering into the expense of this undertaking, which will take through traffic away from the business section of East Liverpool.

The two who are going to follow Collins' footsteps, as far as the Air Corps, anyway, are William T. Kendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kendall of 730 Superior ave., and J. L. Sohner of Akron. They are bound for Kelly field in Texas.

Fraternity Brothers Kendall and Sohner are members of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity of which Collins was a member.

Clark Gable, in the film, is the screen image of Jimmy Collins. Collins grew up in Cuyahoga Falls, was graduated from Akron Central High school and left Akron university to become a lieutenant in the Army Air corps.

His book, "Test Pilot," published posthumously, revealed for the first time the man-killing rigors of test piloting.

As adventurous as any screen hero, Collins' romance with Dee, his wife, was as dramatic as the screen love of the test pilot and the farm girl (Myrna Loy).

Like Gable in the movies, Collins found his love in Wichita, Kan. She sold him a veteran's for get-me-not and six days later they were married. The movie version is similar, although even speedier.

His Last Test Jimmy dived ships 10,000 feet straight down just to see if he would hang together. The last he made was to pay for a houseful of furniture for his wife and two children Susan Ann James.

That dive, his 13th, in a Grumman ship which Jimmy was testing for the Navy, ended in his fatal crash in a cemetery near Farmingdale, L. I. The title of the chapter of Collins' book is "I Am Dead."

CLEAN CLOTHES ARE ECONOMICAL

Have Your Discarded Winter Raincoat Cleaned Now; It Will Last Much Longer

L. C. Price, manager of the Paris Cleaners on the Benton rd., suggests, for economy's sake, now that winter garments are being hung in the back of the wardrobes, to have them cleaned instead of waiting until next fall.

Clothes that are packed away without first being thoroughly cleaned simply cannot wear as long. Body acids, dirt, and other foreign matter rot the fibers and encourage moths.

Clothes put away clean, in clothes bags, will be ready for you next fall. Simply put them away and forget all about them. If you don't you may be sorry.

It's time now to have those curtains, drapes, chair covers, and all such house furnishings freed from the grime of winter.

Paris modern methods will bring out the colors to their original brightness and instead of the shabby appearance the freshness of the original materials will be restored.

EXPERTS LAUD THE '38 DE SOTO

Local Dealer Invites Inspection And Asks Prospective Buyers To Be Critical

"Be critical and cranky, and expect the best."

The Harris garage thus invites you to assume a "hard-to-please" attitude when you inspect the beautiful new DeSotos—you folks who are in the market for a new car and want the best for the least.

"In this brilliant new car," Harris points out, "engineer and artist have worked together to give America a new conception of motor car value. Today, DeSoto in actual fact provides fine-car features at small-car cost."

"Down to the smallest detail it is as beautiful as an expensive custom built automobile. Its luxurious interior established new standards for comfort. There is plenty of room for six passengers, without crowding."

"You'll appreciate this new DeSoto's 'relaxed ride'—faster pick-up of the improved 93-h.p.—'economy engine"—complete sound-proofing that seals out nerve-racking road noises—airplane-type shock absorbers which 'swallow' the lumps—rubber body mountings which erase vibration, giving you a cushioned ride.

"Get behind the wheel and see what fun it is to drive. The front seat is easily adjustable up or down, forward or back, to suit your individual preference. Every control is at your finger tips—every instrument immediately visible through the full 10-degree opening at the top of the wheel.

"Easier to handle? Right—and you're driving a car built for safety! Up-to-date safety devices protect you and your family. Bigger, genuine hydraulic brakes—safety steel body with one-piece steel top—a large windshield that gives you 12 per cent deeper angle of vision."

"Come in and see this brilliant DeSoto today."

The Harris garage is also showing the new Plymouth Road King, available at a substantial reduction in price for thrifty buyers.

Minority Problem Important, Is Claim

COLUMBUS, April 30 — Jacob Horak of Heidelberg college at Tiffin, told sociologists attending their 14th annual Ohio meeting today that a successful solution of the European minority problems might become "one of the principal guarantees and safeguards of democracy and international peace."

"The problem of minorities resolves itself into a series of adjustments which are not merely political, but economic and cultural as well," he said. "Its solution involves a balance between the minority and majority rights in self-determination of nationalities. Whether such a balance can be arrived at within the spheres of the state rights or would require international guarantees remains to be seen."

Other speakers on the program included W. F. Cottrell of Miami university, Oxford.

COLUMBIANA

The next meeting will be the mother-daughter party some time in May, to be held at the church.

SINCLAIR LISTS AUTO SERVICES

Hundreds of Motorists Turn Servicing Job Over to These Highly Reputable Stations

Many cars in the Salem district are being prepared for spring and summer driving at the Sinclair Service stations.

The complete and thoroughly modern stations are located throughout the district. To avail yourself of this service is to promote safety and greater riding comfort.

Lubrication Important

Lubrication is something which should not be put off. A few minutes' servicing now may save hours without a car later and the cost of a big repair bill.

Here is what Sinclair's Stations offer in lubricated service:

1. Every trace of winter grit and grime is eliminated. Every bit of worn oil is removed and heavier lubrication is supplied to absorb the heat and beating of summer driving.

2. Gears are quieted and every moving part is bathed in wear-resisting lubricant. Gear boxes are flushed and refilled with the correct grade of gear oil.

3. Chassis squeaks are stopped. That bothersome noise about the car is overcome and costly wear vanishes. Your car handles easier and rides smoother.

The Sinclair stations keep a permanent record of your lubrication work—mileage, date, etc., enabling you to more definitely check the service. Station attendants will call for and return your car after servicing has been completed. Upon request, reminder cards of lubrication needs will be sent to motorists of this district.

There are many other services performed by these stations besides the lubrication of more than two score parts of your car. Radiators will be drained, treated and prepared for summer driving. This service results in draining of old anti-freeze fluids, prevention of overheating and corrosion.

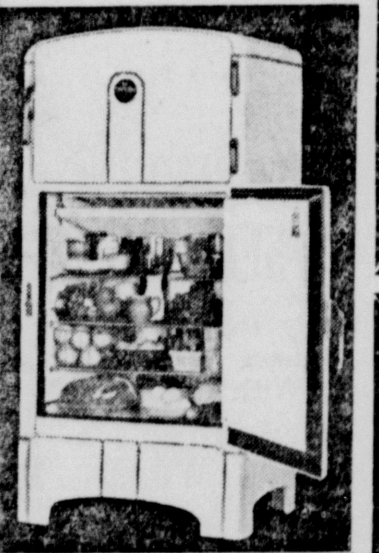

The Sinclair Stations are equipped to lubricate all precision-built cars and hypoid gears. Men who know their business lubricate every car according to charted requirements set up by manufacturers and experts.

There is always protection and comfort in driving and a better chance for improved trade-in value when your car is properly lubricated with the highest quality products.

scale than with Master Mix complete poultry feeds.

Experiments have proven conclusively that three different feeds are necessary, first the chick starter, to produce that healthy, quick growing chick. This is followed at the end of six weeks by the growing mash which produces the fully developed, healthy pullet, capable of real egg production. When the pullet is about to lay, egg mash should be fed.

The Salona Supply Co. can supply Master Mix feeds and will also furnish a folder fully outlining a feeding program that is certain to produce satisfactory results if carefully followed.

The pamphlet goes into great detail, giving the ingredients of each feed, how it should be supplemented with the home grown grains, and how the chicks should be cared for from the days they hatch until they are full grown pullets.

"Better Homes" Contest Open To Letter Writers

Stress Fact That Recent Liberalization of Financing Terms Will Help Many

Launching of a "Better Homes for a Better Salem" prize letter writing contest with local and national cash awards totalling $15,125, was announced today by The Peoples Lumber company, W. State St.

Local cash prizes amount to $125 for the best letter written by a Salem resident on the subject "What the Word Home Means to Me."

Eligible for National Contest

All letters submitted in the Salem better homes contest will also be eligible for awards in the national "Better Homes for a Better America" $15,000 prize contest which is being sponsored by Johns-Manville. First prize in the national contest will be $10,000 and there will be 109 additional cash prizes.

"Stimulation of home building and home improvement activity in Salem is the objective of this better homes movement," according to Arthur L. Haessly of The Peoples Lumber company, which is local headquarters for both contests. He pointed out that "recent liberalization of home financing terms under the National Housing Act has made it possible for additional thousands in America to build new homes or modernize existing ones."

"It is to be hoped that the thought and study that this contest will inspire will better acquaint Salem citizens with the greatly increased values provided in the home of today and will demonstrate the remarkable things that can be done by modernization," Haessly declared. "If by this means we can stimulate growing interest in the home both as an institution and as a haven of security in which to live then this whole community will benefit greatly."

The local contest will end June 1, and the national contest on July 20.

Who May Enter

"Anyone who is over 21 years of age and who owns his present home or is considering the building of a new home may enter both the local and the national contests," Haessly explained. "All that is required for a person to enter both competitions is for him to make a copy of his contest letter and enter one copy locally and the other nationally. Both contests are on the subject 'What the Word Home Means to Me.'"

Haessly also pointed out that it was not necessary to buy a product or send in labels or box tops to enter the contests. All that a contestant has to do before writing his letter is read the Johns-Manville "Home Idea Book" on home building, modernization and decorating. These books together with complete information about the contests are available at the offices of The Peoples Lumber Co.

ALLIANCE SEEN AS "INSURANCE"

Anglo-French Pact Will Tend to Discourage European Conflict

ex-Premier Baldwin once graphically described the position.

Unified Preparedness
A defeat of France or the low countries north might bring an enemy of Britain to the shores of the all too narrow English channel.

The Anglo-French alliance is further useful in that it provides for unified preparedness, even if the matter of storing food-stuffs to avoid a shortage in case of war.

The question of food is of paramount importance for the island Kingdom of Britain, since she is largely dependent on the outside world for supplies. She was driven almost to the verge of desperate hunger during the World war by the German submarine campaign about her shores.

The alliance shows that another great truth was learned in the World war—the necessity of a unified command. That apparently is being provided for in advance, whereas it took years of inefficiency during the big conflict to prove that there must be a central head.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

DON'T "SHOP AROUND" FOR GLASSES!

If the bargain hunting instinct is so strong within you that you feel you "simply must have a bargain," relieve that urge for economy by purchasing a hat, a pair of shoes, or something that won't affect your most precious possession—SIGHT.

There's more to the purchase of a pair of glasses than merely buying so much glass and gold. You should buy Ocular Service—net glasses—and keep in mind that the only kind of ocular service worth buying is first-class Ocular Service.

Low-priced glasses are not cheap when results are considered. Glasses selected at random on a bargain counter, like a handkerchief or a pair of gloves, do more harm than good, because they are not suited to the requirements of your eyes.

We have the knowledge, skill and necessary equipment to determine exactly the state and needs of your eyes. Why not call this week for an examination.

DON PASCO WINS MARBLES MEDAL

The Memorial building and city recreation director, who is supervising the mibs play, conducted the Columbia finals and gave Miss Elizabeth Horne, principal of the school, the medal which she later presented to Pasco in reward for his championship performance.

Columbia school recently received a large framed picture of George Washington from Congressman Lawrence T. Harbo in recognition of the performance of Bob Pasco, who, as a Columbia student, won the 1937 marble tournament.

Kelley planned to conduct the finals at Prospect school tomorrow morning. Other schools ready for their finals are Rely, Fourth Street and McKinley. St. Paul's school and Junior High have yet to complete their room elimination tournaments.

Dog Tale

NEW YORK—A dog started the argument and man got bitten—but not by the dog.
It began when Walfrid Brating, a movie ticket taker, refused to let Mrs. Silvia Febles enter the theater with her Chihuahua dog.
Brating told police she bit him; Mrs. Febles said he bit himself—by slapping her in the mouth and knocking out one of her false teeth.
On Brating's complaint, Mrs. Febles was detained on a simple assault charge.
